Chad Galactic recently released an album titled "So Hot Right Now". To help promote it, they released a video for their song "South of the Border". For info and booking please email booking@chadgalactic.com.

BAND BIO:

Chad Galactic is a joint venture between Interplanetary Poet/Storyteller Chad Galactic and Dave Brogan (ALO). Over the last 3 years they have developed a unique project that they have titled FoodRaps. These cosmically charged jesters, rhyme about the savory and sweet atop classic hip-hop grooves, creating a space where the Food Network meets Adidas track suits.

While this is a new project, there is nothing new about it's two creators. They have been around the national music scene for over a decade and have been shaping and crafting this epic creation for years. What they have now may seem like comedy but they take it very seriously. They are both wordsmen that have been struck with inspiration by the arrow of food.

They have performed all over California.
